The former star twirler on the Inter-city baseball team, Ed. Ruellbach, closed the season as the star pitcher of the Chicago National League team, having the highest percentage of games won of the six pitchers. Ruellbach won nine out of twenty-three games. The games which were lost came during the first part of the season, when the great pitcher was not in the best of condition. Ruellbach will probably pitch today's game for the Nationals against the Chicago Americans for the world's championship.
